

Junior Software Engineer

Job description

Qwerty Hellas is seeking for a talented and motivated Software Engineer with strong technical skills, a collaborative work ethic and teamwork spirit to join the development team. You should be able to work in an demand environment, collaborating closely with other developers and product managers in our projects in Greece and in Italy.

Key Requirements

- University degree in Software Engineering or Computer Science or similar
- Knowledge of one or more of:
 - C#.Net , ASP.Net MVC
 - SAP BusinessObjects
 - QlikView , QlikSense
 - Oracle ODI (Oracle Data Integrator)
 - SSIS Sql*Server
- Interest in mobile technologies (Apps for smart phone & tablets)
- Very good understanding of cross-platform environments (Windows, Linux)
- Easy adaptation to new technologies/platforms
- Strong oral and written communication skills in English language (Italian is optional)
- Strong analytical and exceptional problem-solving skills
- Desire to build a career in software development
- Ability for business traveling abroad
- Completed military obligations for male candidates

Duties And Responsibilities

- Design software solutions to meet all of our partners requirements
- Develop and provide software components that operate as part of a large multi-process system
- Integrated software environment to verify behavior and resilience
- Perform functional testing of the system on a full installation that replicates real world use
- Provide documentation and overall support to partners, solving any software issue that may arise during operation
- Share know-how with our partners that gain from our experience and technical expertise on the field
- Apply technical expertise to investigate and resolve customer software issues
- Work independently and in close collaboration with team members in Athens and Italy

If you are interested in applying in this Job Opportunity please send us your CV in info@qwerty-hellas.gr