GOLDMAN SACHS OPERATIONS

For every trade agreed, every new product launched or market entered, every transaction completed, it is Operations that enables business to flow.

Operations partners with all areas of the firm to enable the delivery of banking, sales and trading, and asset management capabilities to all our clients. We work to protect the accuracy and efficiency at every step of the trade for every transaction all around the world. Operations also aids in the design of the technology, the information flows and the processes that make it all work. We constantly monitor these systems and reengineer them to keep everything running as efficiently as possible.
